was held Saturday afternoon at his home on 85 Palmer street, Rev. E. J. Cleveland, rector of Christ Episcopal church officiating. Burial was in River Bend cemetery. The bearers were Samuel Chappell, John Martin, John Fishwick, Joseph Melville, Andrew Fallon and William Simmons.

The fire department of both Westerly and Watch Hill responded to alarms for brush fires at about the same time Sunday afternoon. At 2 o'clock a call was received at the Westerly fire station for assistance in fighting a brush fire near the Henderson farm between the Shore and Post roads. The truck of the Cyclone company carried down a number of men, and it was found that the fire had gained headway that more assistance was needed. The truck returned to Westerly and three strokes of the alarm were sounded and another force of men was rushed to the fire. The men fought the flames for four hours before the blaze was extinguished. The fire spread over about 25 acres of brush and young timber land.

The Watch Hill department responded to a call for help from Pleasant View. The fire there was located in the grass on the west end of Crandall avenue. The flames crept up close to number of cottages, garages, and the church, but no buildings were burned. The fact that the grass had been kept trimmed on several of the lots on the west side of the avenue prevented the flames from igniting the wooden structures.
